a thousand years of history in Normandy
+ beautiful and historic Paris!

With daily “dessert conversations” probing
the cultural and spiritual dynamics of the Institute’s work in France . . .

The Jacques Lefevre Institute in Normandy, France is home to “Chez Vous Summer” and “France Semester” - French study-abroad resources for your school’s language department.

Saturday

We will take off today and enjoy free movies and all of the coffee we want while winging our way through the night to Paris!

Sunday

Our private van driver will meet us at the airport this morning for a leisurely drive to Normandy where The Jacques Lefevre Institute is located.

On our way, we will explore the beautiful coastal village of Honfleur. This Viking harbor town is filled with the quaint shops of local artists and craftsmen.

Afterward, dinner will be waiting at the Institute in our own village of Franceville. Here we can relax, visit a local café or stroll on the beach.

Monday

A good night's sleep, a French breakfast, and some French worship songs will get us started toward . . .

Caen: the capital of Lower Normandy. Here, we will jump back into the Middle Ages to visit the castle, abbeys, and tomb of William the Conqueror.

When William conquered England in 1066, a 230ft. embroidery was crafted to commemorate this history-changing event. A UNESCO World Heritage Artifact, we will visit this Bayeux tapestry in the afternoon.

Tuesday

Mont St. Michel! Marking the epic battle in the heavens between Michael the Archangel and Lucifer.

Wednesday

Cabourg: The morning will find us browsing a typical French market. Afternoon activities will draw us back to 1944 and the struggle that would change the world, beginning with the D-Day landings. The Gun Battery of Merville required heroic action by the allies the night of the invasion; while the restored Grand Bunker of Ouistreham will allow you to experience the life of a German soldier just prior to the landings.

Thursday

Today we will follow up the Gun Battery and the Grand bunker by visiting more D-Day sites and Omaha Beach. Pointe du Hoc and the American Cemetery will remind us once again of the true cost of freedom.

Friday - Saturday

Goodbye Normandy and Hello Paris!

Two days of well-organized (but not stressful) visits will take us to nearly all the most popular attractions in Paris.

See what it really means to “live like a King” while exploring the Palace of Versailles, and discover the beginnings of Paris during our Roman and Medieval Walk.

A Modern Paris Walk includes strolling down the Champs Elysees, while time at the Louvre and Sacre Coeur will pull us back into ancient history - including the strange legend of the 1st missionary to Paris. One evening we will even enjoy dinner at one of Benjamin Franklin’s favorite restaurants.

And finally, we will connect with our spiritual forefathers in the faith through an informative Spiritual Heritage Walk covering the 1500’s and the French Reformation.
